

Chair, Department of Family Medicine and Community Health
University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine
University of Miami Health System

The University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine's Department of Family Medicine and Community Health is rich in history. First led by Lynn P. Carmichael, M.D., who is considered one of the founders of the discipline of family medicine, the Miller School of Medicine is seeking an accomplished physician leader to serve as its next Chair for this storied department.

Based in South Florida, the Department of Family Medicine and Community Health has a significant impact on the residents and community. The Chair will play an integral role in the expansion of primary care services within the health system and will oversee all educational and research activities in the department.

The Department has thirteen faculty, providing comprehensive treatment and prevention services at ten practice sites and urgent care centers, and 24 residents plus an outstanding fellowship program in sports medicine. The Department is actively engaged in research projects funded by grants from HRSA and the Department of Defense, totaling $2.6M.

Reporting to the Dean of the School of Medicine and the Chief Operating Officer for the University of Miami Health System, the Chair will oversee clinical activities, with responsibility for their expansion and success in the marketplace and for achieving the delivery of high-quality and cost-effective care. With support from the School of Medicine, the Chair will also oversee the residency programs, the sports medicine fellowship, an active undergraduate educational program, and the growth of the research/scholarly operations.

This is an exceptionally dynamic, exciting, and diverse work environment structured for the continued pursuit of excellence and long-term success and the capacity to foster the growth and development of leaders in the field of primary care for decades to come. Candidates must hold the degree of M.D.,M.D./Ph.D. or D.O., be Board-certified by the American Board of Family Medicine, and possess qualifications for appointment at the associate professor or professor rank at The University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine.

WittKieffer has been retained to assist in this recruitment. Inquiries, nominations, and applications are invited, and candidates should include a letter of interest outlining their special qualifications for this position and a current curriculum vitae. Confidential inquiries and documents should be submitted to the WittKieffer consultants supporting this search, Kimberly Smith, Tricia Porter, and Cody Burke at UMiamiFamilyMed@wittkieffer.com.

The University of Miami is an Equal Opportunity Employer - Females/Minorities/Protected Veterans/Individuals with Disabilities are encouraged to apply. Applicants and employees are protected from discrimination based on certain categories protected by Federal law. Click here for additional information.